

Review of: "Sacred Plants and Their Miraculous or Healing Properties"

Pooja Nagime

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The review titled "Sacred Plants and Their Miraculous or Healing Properties" makes a valuable contribution, especially concerning Mandrake and Peyote. The manuscript is both pertinent and skillfully written. Nevertheless, there is a need for the authors to condense both the abstract and the entire manuscript, as their current length is excessive. Furthermore, grammatical errors require correction, and attention should be paid to punctuation and formatting. Restructuring the manuscript into a narrative review focusing solely on these two species would enhance clarity and comprehension. In my view, the review remains a work in progress, necessitating substantial revisions and concise articulation.