

Review of: "A Perspective for Economic and Social Unfoldings of AI"

Seongmin Jeon¹

¹ Gachon University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper seems to introduce an economic and social perspective of the Artificial Intelligence. It deals with the issues of investment, education and research. I would point out that the scope of the research is beyond a single paper. Also, I do not find literature review enough. The author may want to refer the previous literature so as to understand where the paper is positioned. It is always important to remember that scientific research is a rigorous and ongoing process, and even negative feedback can contribute to the improvement of future studies.