

Review of: "Lived Experience of School Leaders in Supervising during Remote Teaching"

Niris Cortes¹

¹ Universidad Catolica del Norte

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This research contributes to education issues, especially for the search for learning strategies in the current generation of students with different technological skills than traditional ones.

For the methodology, I recommend reviewing the following articles to explain the qualitative research methodology and the choice of the best narrative of the surveys to cite in the results part of your article, respectively

<https://doi.org/10.1371/journal.pone.0232076>

<https://doi.org/10.3389/fmars.2023.1128527>

For discussion, I recommend reviewing the following articles to establish benchmarks for comparison with problems encountered by educators.

<https://doi.org/10.1080/03004279.2020.1849346>

<https://doi.org/10.9756/INT-JECSE/V13I2.211172>

I recommend that they be published after strengthening the methodological and discussion sections.