

Review of: "Tomatoes Unveiled: A Comprehensive Exploration from Cultivation to Culinary and Nutritional Significance"

Diana Pinto¹

¹ Instituto Politecnico do Porto

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The manuscript entitled "Tomatoes Unveiled: A Comprehensive Exploration from Cultivation to Culinary and Nutritional Significance" fits within the guidelines and criteria of Qeios, providing a comprehensive review of the nutritional and bioactive composition of tomatoes, as well as their health benefits and potential industrial applications. The manuscript seems interesting and well-organized in adequate sections; however, some topics could be deepened considering the existing literature on the topic.

Please find below some suggestions to improve the manuscript:

- Format the scientific name of the tomato plant, "Solanum copernicum," in italic letters, please. After indicating the full name of the tomato plant for the first time, use the abbreviated name as "S. copernicum," formatted in italic letters. Please revise it along the manuscript.
- The introduction is well-written and gives a sufficient background for the review. However, more references are needed to support the statements made throughout the introduction.
- References are also missing in the second paragraph of the section "2. Nutrient Profile and Antioxidant Properties."
- Revise the formatting of Table 1.
- Please revise some formatting issues along the manuscript.
- Some future perspectives on the research about tomatoes and derived products may be discussed to enrich the manuscript.