

Review of: "Training Teachers to Become Mental Health Promoters: Impact on Their Well-Being"

Amitabh Deo

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

I appreciate the author(s) for taking on such an important topic of teacher's mental well-being. I have the following observations:

1. Introduction section needs to be strengthened by improving the literature review and adding theoretical foundations to justify the need for the study variables.
2. How did you arrive at the study variables?
3. Hypothesis is missing.
4. Methodology: You have close to 70 items (including demographic variables); however, the sample size is only 276. How would you justify the same?
5. What were your control variables?
6. How did you approach respondents? How many respondents did you approach?
7. As you have collected data in two phases, what all did you collect (which items) in the first phase and the second phase?
8. It would be nice if the authors could include a model depicting the relationship of all the variables.
9. Did you perform any tests to check the common method variance problem?
10. It would be better to have separate sections for managerial implications, research implications, limitations, and scope for future research direction.
- 11.