

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Actual Device Evaluated Evaluation Method

National Cancer Institute

Source

National Cancer Institute. Actual Device Evaluated Evaluation Method. NCI Thesaurus. Code C91896.

The investigation employed relevant empirical testing of the actual device suspected in the reported adverse event in order to establish their functional and other properties and to identify possible causes for the adverse event. Relevant testing would typically be based on test methods used for evaluating safety and performance as described in the latest relevant standards.