

Review of: "“We Only Came Home to Find His Body Dangling”: Voices and Practs in Selected Nigerian Newspapers Reportage on Suicide"

Su-Hie Ting¹

¹ Universiti Malaysia Sarawak

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

1. Method - please provide a word count for the data from the three newspapers.
2. Operational definitions are not clearly shown for the seven pragmatic acts. This is important to show measures taken to ensure reliability in data analysis. I saw some explanations inserted in the explanation of the results, but it is better to present a clear analysis framework in the Method section.
3. Results - Examples of the practs are shown before the explanation is given. To me, this is unconventional. As a reader, I am left wondering what the example is about. Usually, the main point is made, and then the examples are given as illustration.
4. Results - The results for the practs are given “individually.” There is no integration of results to show what the overall patterns are for each of the newspapers.
5. It is also not clear in the results which part of the results is for objective 1 and objective 2.