

Review of: "Analyze the Influence of Socio-Economic Conditions of Parents on the Personality of Christian Teachers in Tambaksari District, Surabaya"

Hafiz Mudassir Rehman¹

¹ UCSI University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Please take the comments positive to improve the quality as a whole.

Analyze the Influence of Socio-Economic Conditions of Parents on the Personality of Christian Teachers in Tambaksari District, Surabaya

The title should be revised to better reflect the main focus of the study without limiting its scope to a specific location or demographic.

The relationship between socio-economic conditions and the personality traits of Christian teachers may not be immediately apparent. The wording of the research question could be revised to better capture the focus of the study.

The abstract should provide a clear overview of the study and its contribution to the literature. It should avoid mentioning technical details such as hypotheses and statistical values and instead focus on the overall findings and their implications for policymakers and educators.

To improve the readability of the introduction, it should be divided into sub-sections that clearly introduce the research topic, objectives, and hypotheses. Additionally, a separate section should be added to clearly articulate the motivation behind the research and the gap it aims to address in the literature. This will help readers understand the context and importance of the study.

The literature review should be written as a separate section that provides an in-depth discussion of the existing literature related to the research topic. It should focus on discussing the relevant theories, concepts, and empirical studies related to the relationship between socio-economic conditions and personality traits of teachers. The review should be structured to clearly identify the gaps in the literature that the study aims to address. This will provide a more comprehensive understanding of the research context and background.

A. Research variable

To improve the clarity of the research variables, a separate section should be added to the literature review that explains each variable in detail. This will help readers gain a better understanding of the specific concepts and constructs being measured in the study. Additionally, the section should provide an overview of the relevant literature related to each variable to provide context and support for the study's hypotheses.

Literature review.

Literature study is done by studying books, articles, and other literature that supports this research.

This is not acceptable to write one line for it.

Research Instruments

The source of the research instrument used in the study should be clearly stated to provide transparency in the research methodology. Additionally, it should be specified whether the instrument was adapted or adopted from previous studies, and the modifications made to the instrument should be discussed. This will help readers understand the validity and reliability of the research instrument and its suitability for the study's objectives. Is this instrument adapted or adopted?

The data analysis technique and statistical hypothesis should be clearly explained in the text of the research, including their application to the research objectives. Here only definition of tests is explained which looks like a book chapter.

The discussion part is something that is well written but still requires some proof reading.

The contribution of the study should be explained in a specific and detailed manner, including how the results can be applied to improve the well-being of teachers and enhance the quality of education in Indonesia. This may include recommendations for policymakers and educators on how to address the challenges faced by teachers from lower socio-economic backgrounds, based on the insights gained from the study.

I am confused about footnotes? Why it is required to add? Please explain.