

Review of: "Natural Surveillance and Natural Access Control: Implementation strategies for enhancing Safety in Indian Neighborhoods"

Michael I. Ferreira

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

1. In some instances, the text and English is clumsy with unclear meaning. It has to be updated and streamlined. For example, in the Abstract a suggestion for the second sentence is: Frequently, we become aware of accidental dangers and casualties, wherein occasionally
2. Under heading 4, the following consecutive phrases in one sentence have to be smoothed out:maybe, sometimes,
3. Since this manuscript is presented as a review, some references are required to substantiate Tables.
4. Discussions on safety concerns need to be backed up with case studies from elsewhere in the world. This will make this manuscript more relevant.
