The concept of this original research paper was excellent with qualitative ideological presentation. I think the research paper could provide significant contribution in the field of health care among the undergraduate students with Mental Well being in the sense of spiritual aspect which were neglected now a days. In my observation some correction could be made such as

1. Abstract must be organized with different section like aims/objectives, summary of introduction, methods, results, conclusion with specific finding in a brief way
2. Apart from other section according to my point of view, only discussion section required detailed literature review with specific comparison with similarity & dissimilarity of the result finding
3. There are required to be correction of grammatical errors, with alignment of their sentence with font size
