Dear author,

I have some comments,

- I think the author needs to justify the choice of the three faculties in his study.
- Long introduction and at the same time short methods with no details.
- No need to write ' review of literature ' in the introduction because it will appear that the manuscript is almost a review article.
- No need for a table inside the methods section!
- A lot of tables. It can be minimized to 3-4 tables only.
- I couldn't find the discussion section?
- Conclusion is too long.
- Any ethical approval ?
