Abstract: The abstract lacks sufficient information. The background is loose, the issue of cyptocurrency is not clear. Despite the list of analysis, main findings were not explained.

Introduction is too general and brief. What is the gap that want to be studied?

Literature review has not pointed out the interrelated linkages between previous and latter studies that lead for this study to be conducted.

Data: what kind of data is being used? and from which platform?

Methodology: what is the main differences and purposes for each analysis?

Findings: what are the findings for each analysis? and why?

The Pros and Cons of GARCH Models is not needed anyway.

Conclusion is not conclusive. It should represent the whole content, however it lacks vigor and robustness, by only listing out the type of analysis used.
