

Review of: "Implementation of the Adult Oncology Unit at Muhimbili National Hospital (MNH)"

Michael Grace Kawooya

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Compliment

This was a well written, important and timely paper at such a time when cancer cases are on the rise in Africa.

A few comments

1. What was the primary objective for expansion at this specific facility? Was it to increase coverage or catchment area? Was it to Improve quality of services? Was it to introduce additional services bearing in mind that pediatric oncology was already in place? Stating the primary objective would go a long to guide the researcher to describe or measure success and evaluate for challenges pertaining to this initiative.
2. Just like human resources development, a description would be made on whether there were specific interventions made on major care delivery concerns like to increase the volume of drugs, sundries and other supplies supplied; mode of care delivery; management and maintenance of equipment; customer care services; health education etc.