

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Atypical Adenomatous Lung Hyperplasia

National Cancer Institute

Source

National Cancer Institute. Atypical Adenomatous Lung Hyperplasia. NCI Thesaurus. Code C5665.

A preinvasive lesion in the lung. It is characterized by the presence of a small, localized proliferation of mildly to moderately atypical type II pneumocytes and/or Clara cells lining alveolar walls and sometimes respiratory bronchioles.