Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

1. The purpose of the study needs to be more clearly identified. At the moment, it seems somewhat indirect.
2. Your subject is considered somewhat broad. I think the subject of the academic paper should be narrowed down.
3. In addition to research methods to demonstrate the subject matter of this study, a strong theoretical foundation is needed. The theory and practice of salsa dance (for example, body expression methods and processes, certain parts foster creativity, certain parts enhance communication, etc.), of course, the reader can infer to some extent when he or she comes across salsa, but it will need to be described with more accurate evidence in the paper.
4. I think qualitative survey questions should be more closely related to the research topic. Structuring questions, for example, figure 1 and connectivity of questions, categorizing each question—I hope the main ideas are shown in the table.
5. The results of the study are somewhat weak. I hope they can cover all specific lenses in a wide range.
6. The presentation of Figure 1 would be better if it were left-hand aligned rather than center aligned.
7. And above all, conclusions need to be more elaborate and meticulous.

I applaud your hard work in research.
