For this Review article, the authors have presented a valuable collection on an important point: In-Vitro Antibacterial Activity of some Ganoderma Species.

But eventually, a question

What is the interval of time? Does this Review article cover this issue? The oldest reference here is from 2017 (only one reference), and the rest are more recent. Is that review for the last 5 years... if so, it must be hinted at in the address.

Some minor comments are shown and annotated at their sites, in the supplementary data.
