

Review of: "New Method to Identify Potential Illegal Water Use Location by Using Remote Sensing and Neural Networks in Laguna de Aculeo, Chile"

Eahsan Shahriary¹

¹ University of Texas at El Paso

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This paper is of exceptional quality and serves as a valuable contribution to the existing body of literature. The title and abstract effectively reflect the content of the text. Additionally, the article is meticulously organized, with well-gathered data and a robust analysis. The significance of this research lies in its potential for broad and practical application.