The submission is topical and relevant.

However, the methodology of the research, as the key point of scientific research, is not presented. Due to the lack of methodology description, the article cannot be fully identified as a research work.

Another issue is the use of APA style in the list of references.

The list of references does not present around 19 scientific sources cited in the text of the article, e.g., Somot et al., 2007; Anthoff et al., 2007, etc.

Further on, the references are outdated. Today is 2024, while the latest reference refers to 2022.

In-text citations do not follow the format widely accepted in scientific publications.

Use of capitals at the sentence beginning should be re-checked as well.
