

Review of: "A Bibliometric Review of CSR in China Based on CNKI Database: 2006-2022"

Cristina Gabriela Cosmulese<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> University of Suceava

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Abstract

This section is incomplete, needs to be improved with either a short presentation of the results or the usefulness of the study

Introduction

Needs to be improved with own contributions to the literature (1-3 briefly punctuated contributions)

At the end of this section a sentence should be inserted with the structure of the manuscript ( what will be presented in the following sections)

Methodology section

It is quite ambiguous, it does not clearly present the inclusion and exclusion criteria. Plus no objectives are set.

Section 3 Trend analysis of the number of articles issued

It is much too short to be a separate section (I suggest incorporating it into another section, I think it would work in section 2 as well.

Figure 1 does not have a very good resolution, plus I would suggest that the opening of the figure at the top be removed

The work needs to be better positioned according to previous works on this theme. The methodology used in this paper has no bibliographic references.