

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Hyperinsulinism due to UCP2 deficiency

INSERM

Source

INSERM. (1999). Orphanet: an online rare disease and orphan drug data base.

Hyperinsulinism due to UCP2 deficiency. ORPHA:276556

Hyperinsulinism due to UCP2 deficiency (HIUCP2) is a form of diazoxide-sensitive diffuse hyperinsulinism (DHI, see this term) characterized by hypoglycemic episodes from the neonatal period, a good clinical response to diazoxide and a probable transient nature of the disease with spontaneous resolution.