

Review of: "Ternary instantaneous noise-based logic"

Abdolah Amirany¹

¹ George Washington University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Significant improvements in the results are reported in this paper. But there are the following modifications required:

1. Text is not readable in many figures. Modify it for better readability.
2. Some of the figures are copied from literature without modifications and without citing relevant references.
3. Author's contribution not clear from the conclusion. Key new findings required to be highlighted in the conclusion.
4. Add few latest relevant references.
5. Organization of the paper required modifications and formatting of references must as per standard style.