

Review of: "Navigating the Skills Revolution: The Essential Role of Competence Frameworks"

Krassen Stefanov<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Sofia University "St. Kliment Ohridski"

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This paper is investigating the role of competence frameworks in the field of education and training. The paper is a rather informative one, trying to describe all major efforts in the field of competence frameworks. The author rather lists some of the best efforts in defining competence areas, while the technologies behind competence framework developments are not described. Some of the best efforts at the European level are not mentioned, like the TENCompetence framework.

The overall description, even not in full detail, is comprehensive and could be valuable for people who are interested in applying competence frameworks in their teaching and learning.