The subject matter under investigation is significant to the realm of academic discourse, particularly among Indian academic community and an examination of specific experiences deserve inherent scholarly enquiry. However, there are series of observations pertaining to the scholarly contribution in question. a) The research lacks detailed theoretical framework, methodology, and analysis b) The research without providing empirical evidence with supported data (primary or secondary) would not whole water. Considering the sensitivity of the topic, claims made by the researcher, without data is but a hearsay. c) The arguments of unethical practice of authorship collaboration practice are a subjective and requires supporting data to validate the claim. d) The international collaboration practices of Indian authors because of APC support, and association affiliation is also provided no evidence.
