

Review of: "Picture collage: A pedagogical reflective practice tool for nursing students in mental health practice"

Manuel Cordeiro

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Excellent article that crosses mental illness with religion, although it only mentions the Islamic religion. Several Christian religions have stigmas and prejudices with mental health. In addition to the UK, Portugal also has a specialization in Mental Health Nursing, among others.

It might be interesting to make a comparison with nursing students in various places, such as the Gulf of Arabia, Anglo-Saxon countries, Latin countries, etc.