

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Surveillance

National Cancer Institute (NCI)

Source

National Cancer Institute (NCI). Surveillance.

Periodic clinical evaluation of an individual who is at increased risk of developing a condition (compared with the general population) aimed at detecting new or recurrent disease. In public health, surveillance may also refer to the systematic collection of information regarding the incidence, prevalence, and mortality related to various medical conditions or health-related events.