

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Acromelanosis

INSERM

Source

INSERM. (1999). Orphanet: an online rare disease and orphan drug data base.

Acromelanosis. ORPHA:39

Acromelanosis is a congenital hyperpigmentation of the skin usually located on the acral areas of the fingers and toes. It is mostly observed in newborns or during the first years of life.