

Review of: "Acacia pycnantha gum exudates recognised as a traditional food in two countries may have economic potential"

Rania Ahmed

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The researcher succeeded in choosing the topic, but he did not formulate the information in an organized manner, which reduced the quality of the research. The researcher had to go further in writing to explain the chemical composition of the gum, the active ingredients, the use of the gum in folk medicine in the two countries, and whether it is used in industry.