

Review of: "[Commentary] Postpartum Depression: An Invisible Distress in the United Kingdom"

Georgios Iatrakis¹

¹ University of West Attica

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This is an interesting study. However, in the Introduction, it is written, "PPD...impacting at least one in ten new mothers in the UK." Considering that the estimated prevalence of postpartum depression is higher in low- and middle-income regions, it is interesting to take related measurements according to the income characteristics in different regions of the UK.