The paper is indeed interesting, but it needs further scientific editing.

1. Some important numerical findings should be provided in the Abstract.
2. The logical flow in the Introduction is not well-developed and it is not clear for the readers what are the key knowledge gaps and objectives of the researchers to fill them.
3. Please be clear about the purpose of the article and the research innovation aspects at the end of the introduction.
4. Please use the suggested references:
