

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Atrioventricular Septal Defect

National Cancer Institute

Source

National Cancer Institute. Atrioventricular Septal Defect. NCI Thesaurus. Code C101029.

A congenital heart malformation characterized by abnormalities in the anatomic structures that relate to the endocardial cushions. These abnormalities can include defects in the lower part of the atrial septum and the ventricular septum and lack of separation of the mitral and tricuspid valves.