

Review of: "Nigerian Youths' Perception of Privacy and their Self Disclosure on Social Media"

Gilbert Motsaathebe¹

¹ North-West University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This interesting study has been generally well executed. It is clear about its objective. The introduction captures the essence of the study, and the author/s did a great job in providing a clear rationale and perusing the relevant literature for the study. The theoretical section was, however, a bit worrisome in that the author did not provide an in-depth discussion of the theories applied in this study. Pertinent information such as the initiators of these theories and their key assumptions was only tenuously discussed. I think this is the section that requires a bit of attention, as this will enable the author/s to juxtapose the findings against the theoretical assumptions in a more nuanced way. There were numerous instances where authors were cited without years of publication, which ought to be enclosed in brackets. Can this be corrected? Lastly, the author/s will do well to provide a more tacit intellectual explanation of why they opted for such a minimal sample for a study of this nature. I believe once these minor corrections have been done, the work will be ready for publication.