The article is interesting however it is not straight forward to understand the purpose of the study.

My major concerns are as below:

1. What is the design of this study?
2. What is the gap of knowledge? Is this gap related to Italy or is it a public health problem worldwide?
3. The article is too wordy and needs to be adjusted properly.
4. The language of the article very weak which undermines the message of the article. Hard to read/understand some long sentences.
5. This article needs to be organised :for example the facts are presented in the USA and suddenly it refers to Italy.
