This is an insightful paper with a lot to learn, think about and apply in our everyday professional life. The authors touched on often very thorny issues and have started in their practice to change the future. However, in as much as I agree that the so-called global south must receive equal opportunity and access to research and science at large, I would have like to see the other side of the coin - what are we "scientists from global south" doing? what is our role in this 'decolonization' process?
