Review of: "A Security Framework for the Mobile Application Using Color Barcode"

M. Raihan

1. Authors should avoid grammatical and typographical errors. Professional proofreading needed.

2. Authors should reduce plagiarism to less than 20%, including references.

3. Authors should mention key contributions in the introduction section in bullet form.

4. The abstract should be rewritten.

5. The quality of figures should be improved.

6. Authors should cite more recent papers in the reference section.

7. In the conclusion section, authors should mention the limitations and advantages of their work.

8. Authors should follow the journal format strictly.