

Review of: "Collaborative Intelligence: A scoping review of current applications"

Lorenzo Valentini¹

¹ Università degli Studi di Modena e Reggio Emilia

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Overall, an in-depth and well-executed scoping review of collaborative intelligence was carried out. However, more details would be beneficial to future researchers. It is recommended that the approach used, the type of AI technology used, and any limitations and challenges encountered be included for each selected article. Furthermore, as mentioned in the Limitations section, researching patents could provide additional interesting examples.