Dear Author,

for someone outside the field –contemporary kinship studies, I found this article interesting. A good explanation and enrich my knowledge and understanding, especially in kinship relation and family are prerequisites for human existence. The article offers a clear description about the dimensions of contemporary kinship and new way of thinking beyond the traditional concept to answer those emerging issues impacting kinship relations within networks.

I only propose to simplify the language, especially for the readers whose field of expertise are diverse, to increase the enjoyment of reading this article and understand the content more easily and quickly.

Happy writing and success.
