

Review of: "Controlling Offenses on Health Care Personnel through Environmental Design of Healthcare Environments"

Niraj Pandit¹

¹ Sumandeep Vidyapeeth University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Dear

Thank you for sending article to review. It is really great try of architecture faculties to think about doctors issue.

Environment can play important role in reduction of violence against doctor. I did study on same topics with my students and published in 2019 in esteem journal and here the link https://journals.lww.com/mjdy/Fulltext/2019/12040/A_Study_on_Violence_Against_Doctors_in_Selected.10.aspx you can read the full article and see how grave situation for doctors.

Your study is qualitative based on observation of environment. You have observed the various area and draw on paper.

But did you interact with doctors and real people who are working or not? I didnt find any inputs of any person. If you have inputs do add in result.

Your methodology is too short. You need to clarify your process in detail with type of study. If interview taken who are the participants and number. There are 4 hospitals you selcted. What are the inclusion and exclusion criteria for selecting these hospital? Little more clarity on spatial aspects of environment if you can add as doctor I need more clarity on this aspects.

Also add the limitations of your study. It will be great help to plan future study.

I can recommend the study after revision as i said in previous para.

Thank you