The article has very interesting and informative points.

The writer was able to link SDG2 with other SDGs very well. Needless to say, it is unclear what the writer was seeking to find (hypothesis)

The writer could also compare findings with those of other neighboring countries.

The article is on the layman's side (easy read for anyone) , which is good if that's who the writer is targeting but it could be improved to a scientific approach to target scholars.

Thank you
