

Review of: "How Blockchain Technology Can Address Circularity and Trace Emission in the Energy Sector"

Natālija Cudečka-Puriņa¹

¹ School of Business and Finance

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

A very solid and well structured paper. The authors have invested a lot of effort and produced a highly-valuable research as an output, which is definitely recommended for publication.

Some minor comments from the reviewer:

- highlight the significance of practical application of blockchain in the energy sector - which benefits it has.
- revise the language to make it a bit more scientific and solid.
- strengthen the research methodology.