

Review of: "A Simple Dynamic Model for Daily New Cases of COVID-19"

Yahya Öz

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

- 1.. Introduction and abstract need to be rewritten. The novelty of the article should be pointed out while an overview of the topic needs to be provided with corresponding references other than self-citations.
2. Results should be compared with the literature. Especially, in the last years many novel models were introduced. In general, discussions should be more detailed.
3. Conclusions should be formulated.
4. The English language of the study should be polished.