

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Folinic acid-responsive seizures

INSERM

Source

INSERM. (1999). Orphanet: an online rare disease and orphan drug data base. Folinic acid-responsive seizures. ORPHA:79097

Folinic acid-responsive seizures is a very rare neonatal epileptic encephalopathy disorder characterized clinically by myoclonic and clonic, or clonic seizures associated with apnea occurring several hours to 5 days after birth and responding to folinic acid.