

Review of: "Sustainable Development In Southeast Asia: Lessons, Partnerships, and English"

Ravee Phoewhawm¹

¹ Chongqing Technology and Business University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

I believe this article is not quite finished in what it sought to do with regards to assessing. Therefore, with the other comments below, there should be an updated work showing how the data were collected and analyzed with the assessment method. Also, the content for English as a second language should be on its own and should demonstrate with quantitative facts how it has an impact on sustainable development in Southeast Asia.