Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Thank you for the opportunity to read this valuable research. In the title, write " Perceptions of educational services," but in the method and results, there is no trace of the question about mothers' or fathers' understanding of these services.

It is better to explain in the method about the educational services that are performed in the hospital and write the experiences of the participants in this question, or change the title to experiences from pregnancy and visiting in the hospital. Abstract: Write the study time. What was the need to translate the interviews into English? Keywords: Keywords need to be revised. They should be written based on MeSH. Introduction: The researchers chose a qualitative method for their study, but in the introduction and the importance of the subject based on quantitative research, they stated the challenges. Explain why this issue requires a qualitative method of thematic analysis. Methods: Study design and setting: Is the type of research phenomenology or thematic analysis?

Study population and eligibility criteria: If the target group were pregnant mothers, more participants should have been selected from this group. Why did you choose a qualitative approach for this study and not choose to investigate the impact of education with quantitative methods? Data collection and analysis: Is 20-25 minutes enough for a qualitative in-depth interview? What was the main question asked in the interview?

Results: Usually, the codes are converted into subthemes, then themes, and finally the main theme or themes.

It is better to write the number of unreported codes briefly in a table of sample codes and subthemes and main themes.

Tables have been placed in Supplementary Table 1, but since it is a qualitative study and the main results of these tables are thematic analysis, it is better for the results section to be clearer by placing these tables of results. Suggestion: instead of "Pregnant Women's Experiences," the title should be "The Experience of Pregnancy Changes." Conclusion: The conclusion should be based on the objectives and results of the study, and the suggestion should come at the end of the conclusion. Ethical approval and consent to participate: Has the ethics committee code of the institution been obtained?
