

Review of: "Shopping bags: own or plastic? Theoretical explanation of pro-environment consumer behavior in Vietnam"

Aihua Lin

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Congratulating to the authors, this paper is very interesting. I am sharing the following observations:

1. In each hypotheses' subsection they did not develop original arguments to corroborate their hypotheses, neither present prior studies in a cohesive way.
2. The authors should include a section to provide background on the techniques used in the work.
3. The authors need to rewrite the conclusion part. At the moments, it is barely developed.