

Review of: "Improving agriculture and food security in Africa: Can the one health approach be the answer?"

Bruce Kaplan¹

¹ One Health Initiative

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

A well conceived and cogently written article. Notably “... collaborative research-driven actions are required for improving food production and food security. Consistent advocacy and education to enhance the adoption of the one health approach in the agri-food sector in Africa will inherently boost food production, improve public health, and ensure environmental sustainability. ...”

A significant force multiplier for this important comment would be for the co-authors and Qeios to consider referring readers to the top three most comprehensive “One Medicine-One Health” online educational international website links available today, i.e.

One Health Initiative: Home,

One Health - CDC

One Health Commission