

Review of: "Study of environment-behavior in three types of the urban context of Tehran — Comparative analysis of the Chizar, Narmak, and Khazane neighborhoods' context using survey and space syntax methods"

Maryam Abbasi¹

¹ Technische Universität Dortmund

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article being assessed is of outstanding quality, distinguished by a meticulously organized and well-crafted structure. It stands as a groundbreaking and inventive contribution within the realm of studies on environmental behavior, particularly in the context of employing space syntax in Iran. Moreover, it possesses the potential to play a substantial role in enhancing the worldwide body of literature in this field by offering valuable insights into Tehran and Iran.

The article is immensely recommended for final approval owing to its precious content. It can serve as an valuable asset for future research and reference.