

Review of: "The Positive Impact of Dropping the Lowest Test Score on Academic Performance and Stress Levels in MathBased Graduate Courses"

Gina Tarud¹

¹ Pennsylvania State University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This area of research is very prevalent; however I do believe some areas can be revised a bit.

1. The background information reagrding suicide should be revised. Discussion on anxiety is understandable, but please provide sources and stats.
2. Personally, the figures need revising to understand the results.
3. Statistical analysis is not present.
4. Grammatical errors throughout.
5. Limitations should be added to this study for consideration in subsequent studies.