A great effort has been exerted for the issuing of this review article.

I suggest the authors make a graphical abstract for this review article and include a figure or table to demonstrate the number of cited articles for each issue reviewed in this article.

Just include a short paragraph in the introduction referring to the traditional uses of the plant in other regions of the world, in addition to the mentioned uses in the study area.

Please revise the tenses used in the article and revise them.

I recommend this review be published after considering these comments.
