Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Firstly, I would like to appreciate the author for his efforts to collect and compare the information in his intended overview .

However, some points must be taken into consideration from his side for better perception and these can be summarized as per below :

- The introduction may be summarized more succinctly because it is too long, detailed.
- Because there are so many tables, it is challenging to interact with the reader.
- Writing language and article organization both require to be more easier for reader.
