This research is interesting and very descriptive, but there is room for correction.

Number 1: More updated data will help to understand the current scenario instead of the 2018 data.

Number 2: Figure 1 needs to be clarified, and there is no explanation of this figure; the reason has to add to this article for better understanding.

Number 3: Dhaka and its surrounding area do not represent the entire Bangladesh's Garment industry scenario, so the title needs to change.

Otherwise, it is all good to go.
